MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (July 27, 2016)—TwelveStone Health Partners, a leader in providing patient support in the post-acute care environment including pharmacy and a wide range of medical supplies and services, has named Joel Wilmoth a business development specialist, serving the southeast Middle Tennessee region, including Bedford, Bledsoe, Cannon, Coffee, Franklin, Grundy, Lincoln, Marshall, Marion, Moore, Sequatchie, Van Buren and Warren counties.

“We’re working hard to develop well defined territories for business development and sales support,” says Shane Reeves, president and CEO of TwelveStone. “Having Joel aboard to help us serve the communities in our southeastern region is a big step in that direction.”

Prior to joining TwelveStone, Wilmoth was a senior territory manager for Nashville-based Alana Healthcare, a provider of respiratory services and therapies for patients with chronic respiratory illness. He has a background as a health care educator and respiratory therapist. He began his career as a respiratory therapist for Linde RSS in Livingston, Tenn., and Cookeville Regional Medical Center in Cookeville, Tenn.
